

Coastlands Consultants

Coastlands Consultants is a relationally-based ministry providing on-site mentoring teams in a variety of Christian venues, including spiritual emphasis weeks, retreats, women's ministries, leadership training, VBS, camp ministry, and teacher training. References are available upon request. For more information, contact Pam Brady at coastlands@juno.com or Matt Huffman at matthuffman@hotmail.com.

Pam Brady and Coastlands Consultants have been providing spiritual emphasis weeks to Christian schools for 19 years.

Schools Served 2008-2010

Connecticut

Cornerstone Christian School*
Trinity Christian School

Maine

Living Waters Christian School
Penobscot Christian School
Oxford Hills Christian Academy

Massachusetts

Mt. Hope Christian School
Holden Christian Academy
First Baptist Christian School*
Mullein Hill Christian Academy
Dayspring Christian Academy
Beacon Christian Academy

New Hampshire

Concord Christian Academy
Nashua Christian Academy
Salem Christian School
Mt. Zion Christian School

New York

Manhattan Christian Academy
Upton Lake Christian School
Faith Christian Academy*
Hudson Valley Christian Academy
Faith Heritage Christian School

10 consecutive years or more.

5 consecutive years or more.

*3 consecutive years or more.

Coastlands teams serve many schools year after year, including most of the schools listed above. The continuity enables relationships to be built through the weeks AND through the years.

Coastlands Consultants

A Guide to Spiritual Emphasis Weeks

coastlands@juno.com
Tel: 603-625-2325

Spiritual Emphasis Week F.A.Q.s

What is a “spiritual emphasis week”?

This is a week during which our team unites with your school family to corporately seek the Lord. Coastlands provides a team of two or

Pam spends one-on-one guitar-time with a high school student more people who function as full-time missionaries to your school for the week. We desire to be your servant missionaries to help your students grow in their passion for God and walk closer with Him.

With what grade levels do you work?

Spiritual emphasis weeks are available for all grade levels. We tailor the week to the grade levels of your choice.

What is a typical day like?

A typical day has three major components: chapel, journaling, and interactions.

Chapel

Each morning the team presents an age-appropriate chapel focused on the week’s theme. Praise and worship are a vital part of the chapel!

Middle school students help with an object lesson in chapel

Journaling

Each day after chapel, 10-15 students (usually the oldest grade) spend approximately 20 minutes journaling to us, and we spend our afternoons and evenings writing back to each of them. The students’ journals remain confidential with three exceptions: threats of violence against themselves, threats of violence against others, and situations of abuse. The confidentiality of journaling has been key in confession and repentance for many students. It is extremely valuable for the students to be able to share with an adult who is not a parent or teacher but who is a committed believer who is willing to speak the truth in love (Ephesians 4:15a).

Students dig into God’s Word as they read their journal responses

Interactions

Team members spend the rest of the day building relationships with your students by attending their classes, eating lunch with them, playing at recess, and attending after-school activities. Team members are also available to spend additional time with individual classes as requested by the teachers.

Matt plays a parachute game with an 8th grade gym class

Why a whole week?

All good teaching has a cumulative effect. Over the week, strongholds of resistance become weaker, and what could have been ignored if you heard it once cannot be ignored by the end of the week. The on-site availability of committed believers whose single purpose is to be used by God to minister His truth to your school family also has a cumulative effect and allows trust to build over time.

What Others Say...

“The excitement of students is unmatched at any other time of the school year. Coastlands Consultants is an invaluable resource for Christian schools.”

Elaine Driscoll, Principal
Mount Hope Christian School